

The new rules being proposed will further shackle our media under monopolistic ownership. This is the most anti-democratic, anti-freedom move taking place since the McCarthy era. This is no different than government-controlled media. How can we say that we promote democracy in other countries when we are in the process of selling our media to the highest bidder? -- Ruth Newman